

Organization

As of April, 2025

Planning and Administration Department	General affairs, human resources, accounting, planning coordination of research and education/training
Policy Studies Department	Conducts research on the defense policies of Japan, national defense policies of other countries, strategy theory, global security, and security in the cyber domain, etc.
Security Studies Department	Conducts research on government, legislations, society, defense economics and post-conflict development.
Regional Studies Department	Conducts research on international relations and security in diverse regions of the world
Education Department	Provides education on national security affairs to high-ranking officers of the SDF and equivalent civilian officials of the MOD and other government agencies
Center for Military History	Conducts research on military history, compiles military history; preserves, publicly releases, and conducts research on military history documents
Director, International Exchange and Libraries	International exchanges and library management pertaining to basic research and study on the Self-Defense Forces management and Operation
Director, Policy Simulation	Conducts policy simulation on management and operation of the Self-Defense Forces