

NIDS International Forum on War History

“The First Gulf War in Historical Perspectives”

September 14, 2021

Part 1: Military Aspects of the Gulf War – 09:00-12:00 (JST) / 20:00-23:00 (EDT [-1 day])

Chairman's Remarks (09:00-09:05)

Keynote Speech (09:05-09:50)

Lt Gen David Deptula, USAF (ret) (Dean, Mitchell Institute for Aerospace Studies)

“Planning and Executing the Operation Desert Storm Air Campaign: An Effects-Based Approach”

Session (09:50-11:05)

Dr. Carter Malkasian (Research Analyst, Center for Naval Analyses)

“Long-term Implications of Gulf War on US Strategy and Concepts”

Dr. Williamson Murray (Professor Emeritus of History, Ohio State University)

“Thoughts on RMAs and the Rise of the West: Implications for the Future”

Dr. Katsuya Tsukamoto (Head, Security and Economy Division, NIDS)

“The Gulf War and the Military Innovation”

Overall Discussion (11:05-12:00)

Part 2: Political Aspects of the Gulf War – 15:00-18:00 (JST) / 07:00-10:00 (BST)

Chairman's Remarks (15:00-15:05)

Keynote Speech (15:05-15:50)

Sir. Lawrence Freedman (Emeritus Professor of War Studies, King's College London)

“The International Politics of the Gulf War”

Session (15:50-17:05)

Sir. Hew Strachan (Professor of International Relations, University of St Andrews)

“Britain and the First Gulf War”

Dr. Masayuki Tadokoro (Professor of International Relations, Keio University)

“Japan and the First Gulf War”

Dr. Stephen Badsey (Professor of Conflict Studies, University of Wolverhampton)

“The First Major Media War”

Overall Discussion (17:05-18:00)