

Program

Thursday, 1 February 2007

Opening Session

Chairperson: Shinichi Ogawa (Director, Research Department, NIDS)

- 1000-1005: Opening Remarks by Michio Ishii (President, NIDS)
- 1005-1010: Greetings
- 1010-1020: Introduction by the Chairperson

Session One “Can China Maintain Domestic Stability? What Will Be Its Likely Behavior in the Future?”

Chairperson: Shinichi Ogawa (Director, Research Department, NIDS)

- 1020-1045: Presentation: “China’s Economy Today and the Challenges It Faces in Shifting to Capitalism”
Kwan Chi Hung (Senior Fellow, Nomura Institute of Capital Markets Research, Japan)
- 1045-1110: Presentation: “Domestic Political Determinants of China’s External Behavior”
Yasuhiro Matsuda (Senior Research Fellow, NIDS)
- 1100-1125: Break
- 1125-1230: Comments and Discussions
Comment: Seiichiro Takagi (Professor, Aoyama Gakuin University, Japan)
- 1230-1350: Lunch

Session Two “How Much Military Capability Does China Want to Develop? How Much Will It Succeed?”

Chairperson: Yuzuru Kaneko (Deputy Director, Research Department, NIDS)

- 1350-1415: Presentation: “How Much Military Capability Does China Want to Develop? How Much Will it Succeed?: The Dragon at Sea”
Bernard D. Cole (Professor, National War College, USA)

1415-1440: Presentation: “China’s Search for Military Power: Internal Control, Peripheral Denial and Limited Force Projection”

M. Taylor Fravel (Assistant Professor, MIT, USA)

1440-1540: Comments and Discussions

Comment: Michael Swaine (Senior Associate, Carnegie Endowment, USA)

1540-1555: Break

Session Three “What Does It Take for China to Be a ‘Responsible Stakeholder’”?

Chairperson: Shinichi Ogawa (Director, Research Department, NIDS)

1555-1620: Presentation: “What Does It Take for China to Be a ‘Responsible Stakeholder’”?

Aaron L. Friedberg (Professor, Princeton University, USA)

1620-1745: Wrap-up Discussions

1745-1750: Closing Remarks by Kazuya Hayashi (Vice President, NIDS)