

Contents

Preface	iii
List of Abbreviations	xi
Overview East Asia in 2000	1
1. Fresh Expectations and Apprehensions at the Turn of the Century	3
2. East Asian Countries under Pressure to Deal with Domestic Problems	6
3. Efforts for Stabilization: Intraregional Cooperation and Relations among Major Powers.....	8
 Part I Security Issues of East Asia
Chapter 1 Inter-Korean Summit.....	15
1. Historic Inter-Korean Summit.....	17
(1) Kim Dae Jung's Visit to North Korea, and Its Background.....	17
(2) The North-South Joint Declaration of June 15, 2000 ..	25
2. North-South Relations after the Inter-Korean Summit	31
(1) Increasing Mutual Visits between the North and the South	31
(2) Signs of Easing Military Tension	34
(3) North Korea's Political Maneuvering to Divide South Korea	35
3. International Impact of the Inter-Korean Summit....	37
Chapter 2 U.S. National Missile Defense (NMD) Program.....	45
1. Historical Background of the NMD Program	48
(1) Missile Defense Program during Former Bush Administration	48
(2) Clinton Administration and NMD	48
2. Clinton Administration's NMD System.....	53
(1) Outline of NMD System.....	53

(2) NMD Deployment Program.....	55
3. NMD and ABM Treaty	55
(1) Significance of ABM Treaty in the Cold War Period ...	55
(2) Relations between NMD and ABM Treaty	56
4. Reactions of the Countries Concerned	58
(1) Russia and China	58
(2) Reactions from U.S. Allies.....	60
5. Strategic Significance of the NMD Program	62
(1) NMD and U.S.-Russia Relations, and U.S.-China Relations	62
(2) NMD and Ballistic Missiles of States of Concern.....	65
(3) NMD and U.S. Allies' Security.....	66
Chapter 3 ASEAN Attempting to Strengthen Cohesiveness	69
1. Sense of Crisis over Loss of Autonomy	72
(1) ASEAN That Was Strengthening Its Role	72
(2) Economic Crisis and External Interference	73
2. Strengthening Economic Cohesiveness.....	76
(1) Efforts to Reduce Regional Economic Gap.....	76
(2) Promotion of Cooperation with Japan, China and South Korea	79
3. Promoting Political and Security Cooperation	82
(1) Creation of "ASEAN Troika"	82
(2) Support for Indonesian Unity.....	84
4. The Current Status of ASEAN Regional Forum	87
(1) Participation by North Korea	87
(2) Lack of Progress in Preventive Diplomacy	89
Chapter 4 Revolution in Military Affairs and the Strategic Environment of East Asia	93
1. What Is Info-RMA?	95
(1) RMA Demonstrates Its Power in the Gulf War and the Air Raids on Yugoslavia.....	95
(2) Emerging Theory of Info-RMA	96
2. Approaches Taken by Asia-Pacific Countries.....	99

(1) The United States Seeks to Integrate Information and Fighting Capability.....	99
(2) Allies Seek Interoperability with the United States ...	104
(3) China and Russia Seek to Narrow the Gap between Them and the United States	109
3. Impacts of RMA on the Region's Security.....	111
(1) The Future of U.S. Relations with Its Allies	111
(2) The Future of Forward Deployment Force	112
(3) Response to Asymmetric Warfare	113
(4) RMA and Japan's Defense Policy.....	113
 Part II Regional Outlook
Chapter 5 The Korean Peninsula.....	119
1. North Korea: Tougher Regimentation of the People for Economic Rehabilitation, and International Cooperation	122
(1) Continuing Efforts at Economic Rehabilitation	122
(2) Preparation for Dealing with Side Effects of an Open-Door Policy	124
(3) Active Diplomacy to Join the International Community	127
2. Domestic Politics and Diplomacy of South Korea Holding Steady on Course	131
(1) The Kim Dae Jung Administration Midway through Its Term	131
(2) South Korea's Pragmatic Diplomacy	135
3. A Military Standoff Continues	142
(1) North Korea Builds Up Its Military Capability despite Economic Difficulties	142
(2) South Korea Pursues Future-Oriented Defense Buildup	145
(3) The U.S.-ROK Combined Defense System	148
4. The Perry Process Has Been a Positive Factor	151
(1) Improving U.S.-North Korea Relations	151
(2) Pending Matters — Normalization of Relations between Japan and North Korea	157

Chapter 6 China	161
1. Angst of the Communist Regime and Its Efforts for a Solution	164
(1) The Jiang Zemin Regime Tightens Ideological and Political Regimentation	164
(2) The Chinese Economy on a Recovery Track	168
2. China's Foreign Policy Oscillates between Cooperation and Confrontation	172
(1) Characteristics of Chinese Foreign Policy	172
(2) Improving Relations with the United States	173
(3) Closer Cooperation with Russia	176
(4) Economy-First Diplomacy with Japan	178
(5) China Welcomes the Inter-Korea Summit	182
(6) China Makes Friendly Overtures to ASEAN	184
3. China's Military Strengthens Its Power	187
(1) China Attaches Importance to Ideology and Military Strength	187
(2) Preparation for High-Tech Local Wars	189
(3) Reorganization of Its Armed Forces	193
(4) Modernization of Military Equipment	195
(5) China Attaches Importance to Military Exchanges	197
(6) Activities of Chinese Naval Vessels in the East China Sea and the Sea Areas Surrounding Japan	199
4. A New Administration Starts in Taiwan	203
(1) The Birth of the Chen Shui-bian Administration	203
(2) The Taiwan Armed Forces in Transition to a New Structure	207
5. China-Taiwan Relations at an Impasse	213
(1) A War of Words over the "One-China" Policy	213
(2) Restrained Military Tension between China and Taiwan	217
Chapter 7 Russia	221
1. The Advent of President Putin	223
(1) Background of Putin's Victory in the Presidential Election	223
(2) Characteristics of Putin's Appointment of Key Ministers	225

2. Rebuilding a Strong Russia	229
(1) Putin's Perception of the Current Situation	229
(2) The Strengthening of Law and Order, and the Federal System	231
3. Pragmatism of Putin Diplomacy	233
(1) The Approval of a New Foreign Policy Concept	233
(2) The Plot of East Asia Diplomacy	235
(3) In Search of Pragmatic Relations with China	236
(4) Groping for the Recovery of Influence on the Korean Peninsula	238
(5) Japan-Russia Peace Treaty Negotiations Reach a Difficult Phase	242
4. The Russian Armed Forces in a New Strategic Environment	245
(1) New Guidelines for Security	245
(2) The Chechen Conflict and Reform of the Russian Armed Forces	246
(3) Reduction of Military Personnel	249
(4) The Policy for Rebuilding the Navy	250
(5) The Aftermath of the Sinking of the Kursk	252
(6) The Question of Strengthening the Defense Industries	254
 Chapter 8 U.S. Security Policy for East Asia: The Eight Years under the Clinton Administration	257
1. East Asia Policy under the Clinton Administration	259
(1) Maintenance of the Forward Deployment	259
(2) Perception of East Asia Strategy of the Clinton Administration	265
(3) Assessment of the U.S. Strategy for East Asia	269
2. Japan-U.S. Relations	271
(1) Trade Friction between Japan and the United States	271
(2) Switchover to a Policy Attaching Importance to Security	273
(3) The Necessity for Managing Alliance	277
3. U.S.-China Relations	278
(1) Retreat from the Tough Attitude toward China	278

(2) Pursuit of a Comprehensive Engagement Policy	280
(3) Problems in Coming Years	283
4. The Korean Peninsula	285
(1) Suspect Nuclear Development by North Korea.....	285
(2) The Perry Process	288
5. The New Bush Administration and Its East Asian Security Policy.....	290
Chapter 9 Defense Policy of Japan: The New Mid-Term Defense Program.....	295
1. Aim of the New Mid-Term Defense Program: Transition to NDPO Force Level and Response to Various Situations	298
(1) The Thinking Underlying the New Mid-Term Defense Program.....	298
(2) Reorganization of Major Units under the New MTDP.....	300
2. Major Projects of the New MTDP.....	304
(1) Major Projects Geared to Meet New Situations.....	304
(2) Main Equipment Procurement Program	307
3. Toward the Future.....	311
—Supplement— A Brief History of Japan's Defense Program.....	315
Column
The South-North Joint Declaration	26
A Summary of the Perry Report.....	156
Three-Emphases Education	166
Three Representatives.....	167
The Kursk Disaster	253