

Contents

Foreword	iii
List of Abbreviations	xii
Overview: East Asia in 2002	1
1. The War on Terrorism and the Iraqi Issue	3
2. Recurrence of North Korea's Nuclear Development Problem	5
3. The Rise of China and Its Change of Leadership	7
 Part I: Security Issues of East Asia
Chapter 1: Prime Minister Koizumi's Visit to North Korea, and Recurrence of the Nuclear Development Problem	13
1. Prime Minister Koizumi's Visit to North Korea	16
(1) The Japan-DPRK Pyongyang Declaration	16
(2) Post-Summit Problems	23
2. The Shaken "Agreed Framework"	26
(1) The Uranium Enrichment Program	26
(2) North-South Relations amidst Suspected Nuclear Development	30
3. The Nuclear Development Program as a Diplomatic Card	33
4. The Bush Administration and Japan-U.S.-South Korea Cooperation.....	35
(1) U.S. Policy	35
(2) Japan-U.S.-South Korea Cooperation	36
5. The Declaration Ending the Freeze on Plutonium Production	38
Chapter 2: Southeast Asia and Terrorism—Terrorist Networks Revealed.....	43
1. Concerns about U.S. Unilateralism	46
(1) The U.S. Response	46
(2) Dilemma of China and Russia	48

Contents

2. The U.S. and Southeast Asia—A Second Hotbed of Terrorism?	51
3. The Bombing in Bali and Terrorist Networks	56
(1) Antiterrorist Measures Outmaneuvered	56
(2) The Lack of Governance, and International Cooperation	58
(3) Terrorist Networks	61
Chapter 3: Security in Central Eurasia—The Impact of U.S. Engagement	67
1. Security in Central Eurasia, and the United States	70
(1) Afghanistan—The Inauguration of an Interim Government and Deployment of International Troops	70
(2) The Growing U.S. Presence in the Former Soviet Republics	75
2. Multilateral Security in Eurasia and Antiterrorism Measures	79
(1) Islamic Revival and Terrorism	79
(2) Multilateralism in Eurasia	84
3. The Impact on the Internal Affairs of Central Eurasian Countries	87
4. International Relations in Central Eurasia—Problems and Outlook	89
(1) Poverty, Islamic Revivalism, and Border Control	89
(2) Growing Autonomy of Central Eurasian Countries	91
(3) Japan and Central Eurasia	93
Chapter 4: Abrogation of the ABM Treaty and East Asian Strategic Circumstances	97
1. Conclusion of the ABM Treaty, and Its Significance	100
2. The End of the Cold War and the ABM Treaty	101
(1) The Bush (senior) Administration and the ABM Treaty	101
(2) The Clinton Administration and the ABM Treaty	102

3. U.S. Withdrawal from the ABM Treaty and Reaction of Russia and China	105
(1) U.S. Withdrawal from the ABM Treaty	105
(2) Russian Reaction	106
(3) Chinese Reaction	107
4. Post-ABM Treaty U.S.-Russia and U.S.-China Relations, and East Asian Strategic Circumstances	108
(1) U.S.-Russia Relations—Securing Strategic Stability	109
(2) U.S.-China Relations—Avoiding Confrontation through Strategic Dialogue	110
 Part II: Regional Outlook
Chapter 5: The Korean Peninsula	115
1. Internal Affairs and Diplomacy of South Korea	118
(1) The Election of Roh Moo Hyun as President	118
(2) The Sunshine Policy and External Relations	121
(3) President Roh's Policy toward North Korea and Other Countries	125
2. The Launching of "Economic Reforms"—North Korea	129
(1) Changes in the Centrally Controlled Economy	129
(2) Testing Times for Diplomacy	133
3. The Lines of Economic Cooperation Take Hold—North-South Relations	136
(1) Dialogues Repeated but Stalled	136
(2) Linking Railways, Highways	137
4. The Military Situation	140
(1) South Korea's Active Military Buildup	140
(2) South Korea's Weapons Export Drive	147
(3) North Korea's Military Posture and Its Impact—Strengthening Asymmetric Military Capability	150
Chapter 6: China	155
1. China during a Leadership Transition	158
(1) The 13 Years of Jiang Zemin's Presidency—

Contents

The Policy of Opening Up Takes Hold	158
(2) The New Government under President Hu Jintao— Following the Policies of Deng Xiaoping and Jiang Zemin	167
(3) China's Accession to the WTO	169
2. Chinese Diplomacy Aims at Increasing Its Influence	172
(1) Cooperative Foreign Policy with the United States Focusing on Antiterrorism	172
(2) Japan-China Relations Strained by Prime Minister Koizumi's Visit to Yasukuni Shrine	175
(3) Sino-Russian Relations—Weakened Balancing Policy vis-à-vis the United States	177
(4) Relations with the Korean Peninsula Shaken by the Asylum Issue	179
(5) Policy toward ASEAN for Economic Integration	180
3. Continuation of “Strengthening the Armed Forces by Relying on Science and Technology”	181
(1) The Party-Military Relationship under the New Government, and the Task of Building Up the Military	181
(2) Promoting Modernization of the Armed Forces	185
(3) Securing Capable People and Improving Their Treatment	187
(4) Military Exercises under the “New Outline”	189
(5) The Navy Heads for Blue Water	192
4. China-Taiwan Relations	194
(1) China-Taiwan Relations Moving under the “Three Direct Links”	194
(2) Taiwan's Armed Forces under a Unified Command ...	198
Chapter 7: Southeast Asia—Toward a New Unity	203
1. Japan and China Jockey for Leadership over a Free Trade Agreement (FTA)	206
(1) China's Concept of an East Asia Free Trade Area	208
(2) The Koizumi Doctrine—The Concept of Expanded East Asian Community	210

2. The Democratization Process, and the Obstacles It Faces	214
(1) Indonesia	214
(2) Malaysia	219
(3) Myanmar	220
3. ASEAN Ministerial Meeting—Adopting Measures to Strengthen the ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF)	221
4. The Resumption of an Arms Race?	225
(1) Defense Spending	225
(2) An Increase in Arms Procurement	228
Chapter 8: Russia	231
1. The Rule of President Putin and the Stability of Russia	234
(1) Domestic Stability, and the Strengthening of the Putin Administration	234
(2) Cooperation with the United States and the Domestic Situation	235
2. Cooperation with the United States and Russian Policy toward East Asia	240
(1) Post-September 11 U.S.-Russia Cooperation and Its Outlook	240
(2) U.S.-Russia Cooperation and China-Russia Relations	242
(3) Russia Eyeing Economic Interests on the Korean Peninsula	244
(4) Stalemated Relations with Japan	245
3. The War on Terrorism and Military Reform	247
(1) Assessment of Military Operations in Afghanistan, and the Russian Armed Forces	247
(2) The First Step toward a Professional Military	249
(3) Military Priority on the Southern and Western Regions.....	251
Chapter 9: U.S. Security Policy for East Asia—One Year after September 11	257
1. Developing Measures for Combating Terrorism	260
(1) A Review of Security Policy	260

Contents

(2) Progress in International Cooperation	267
(3) The Iraq Issue	270
2. Development of Security Policy for East Asia	277
(1) U.S.-China Relations after September 11	277
(2) A Strong Stand against North Korea	281
(3) Cooperation in Antiterrorist Activities, and Japan-U.S. Relations	285
Chapter 10: The Defense Policy of Japan	289
1. Emergency Legislation	292
(1) Bills Submitted to the Diet to Respond to Armed Attacks, and Subsequent Developments	292
(2) An Outline of the Bills	295
2. Response to a National Emergency—Response to International Terrorist Activities and Suspicious Boats	299
(1) The Anti-Terrorism Special Measures Law, and Subsequent Developments	299
(2) Cases of Suspicious Boats, and Japan's Response	303
3. The Self-Defense Forces and Their International Contribution—The Tenth Anniversary of PKO Participation	306
(1) Participation in PKO Activities in East Timor	306
(2) Ten-Year Track Record of PKO Activities	309
(3) Enactment of the International Peace Cooperation Law and Subsequent Changes	311
(4) Future Participation in PKO Activities and Its Problems	314
Commentary
The Outlook for Multilateral Security Cooperation in the Asia-Pacific Region	9
Jemaah Islamiah	65
The Problem of Removing Anthrax from the Aral Sea	78
Japan's Diplomacy toward Eurasia	95
The Bush Administration Decides to Deploy Missile Defense Systems	107

The National Congress of the Communist Party of China (CPC)	161
The Chechen Problem, and the Occupation of a Theater in Moscow	236
The Department of Homeland Security	262
A Study of Joint Operations of the Self-Defense Forces	302

Reference

Japan-DPRK Pyongyang Declaration	19
North Korea's Position on the Agreed Framework	41
President Roh's Ideas about South Korea's Policies vis-à-vis the United States and North Korea	124
The IDSS's 12 Policy Recommendations to Strengthen the ARF.....	224
U.S. Public Opinion on Attacking Iraq	274