National Institute for Defense Studies

The National Institute for Defense Studies (NIDS) is a think tank of the Ministry of Defense. NIDS is Japan's only national institute for academic research and education of security issues. A team of approximately 90 researchers studies about security policy, international affairs, and military history. Designated as an official archive for historical documents under the Public Records and Archives Management Act, NIDS also manages and provides a large depository of historical documents concerning military history. In addition, NIDS runs education programs for senior officials and officers of the Ministry of Defense and Self-Defense Forces, as well as for other ministry and agency officials. NIDS actively participates in defense exchanges and security dialogues in both research and educational fields with foreign and regional research institutes of security and defense.
