

CONTRIBUTORS

(In the order of chapters)

Jusuf Wanandi (Introduction) is the Founder of the Centre for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS) Jakarta, and Vice Chair of the Board of Trustees of CSIS Foundation. He is also the Chairman of the Indonesian National Committee for Pacific Economic Cooperation Council (PECC) and Chairman of CSCAP (Council for Security Cooperation in the Asia-Pacific) Indonesia, and concurrently the co-chair of the Steering Committee of CSCAP. He is also President Director of the Jakarta Post, national English daily.

Tan See Seng (Chapter 1) is an assistant professor and the Deputy Head (Studies) at the S.Rajaratnam School of International Studies (RSIS), Nanyang Technological University, Singapore. He teaches a graduate seminar on critical security studies and coordinates the Institute's research programme on multilateralism and regionalism. He is a member of the Singapore national committee of the Council for Security Cooperation in the Asia Pacific (CSCAP). He holds Ph.D. from Arizona State University.

Noel M. Morada (Chapter 2) is Chair and Associate Professor, Department of Political Science, College of Social Sciences and Philosophy, University of the Philippines, Diliman. He is also an Executive Director, Institute for Strategic and Development Studies (ISDS), Inc. He holds Ph.D. in Political Science from Northern Illinois University. His research and publications include issues related to Philippine foreign policy and relations, ASEAN external relations, the ASEAN Regional Forum, international terrorism, and human security issues.

Bunn Nagara (Chapter 3) is a political analyst and Associate Editor of Star Publications (Malaysia), and former head of the independent private consultancy Geopolitics Research. He has been a Senior Analyst at the Institute of Strategic and International Studies (ISIS Malaysia). Mr. Nagara has also served as guest lecturer and external examiner for academic and statutory bodies, including the Institute for Diplomacy and Foreign Relations and the Armed Forces Defence College in Kuala Lumpur. He graduated in Media Studies from the University of Southampton and in Conflict Resolution at Uppsala University.

Rizal Sukma (Chapter 4) is Deputy Executive Director at the CSIS, Jakarta, Indonesia. He is also the Chairman of International Relations Division, Central Executive Board of Muhammadiyah; member of the board at Syafii Maarif Institute for Culture and Humanity; a visiting lecturer at Department of International Relations at Muhammadiyah University - Malang; and a member of the National Committee on Strategic Defense Review, Indonesia's Ministry of Defence. He received Ph.D. in international relations from the London School of Economics and Political Science.

Thitinan Pongsudhirak (Chapter 5) is Director of the Institute of Security and International Studies (ISIS) and Assistant Professor of International Political Economy at Chulalongkorn University. He has authored a host of articles and book chapters on Thailand's politics, political economy, foreign policy, and the role of the media in democratisation, as well as ASEAN and East Asian security and economic cooperation. He is frequently quoted and his op-eds have regularly appeared in international and local media. He holds Ph.D. from the London School of Economics.

Jun Tsunekawa (Chapter 6 and Introduction) is a Deputy Director, Research Department, National Institute for Defense Studies. He joined Japan External Trade Organization (JETRO) in 1974, and had conducted research and studied on economic development of Southeast Asia. In 1998, he joined NIDS under the Ministry of Defense as a senior researcher. He specializes in development economics and Southeast Asian Affairs and he was the writer and the editor in chief of NIDS's annual report titled "East Asian Strategic Review" from 2004 to 2007.

The National Institute for Defense Studies (NIDS) is affiliated with the Ministry of Defense, Japan. NIDS runs a highest level educational program for Self Defence Force officers, conducts research on security issues and military history, and is engaged in a number of international research exchanges.